

REMARKS

The specification has been amended to correct several inadvertent errors and to delete reference to Claim 1 in the summary portion of the application. Claim 3 has been amended to delete the multiple dependency and to recite that which was implicit in the original claim language, namely that the humor transfer direction refers to the direction in which the humor is transferred along the humor transfer channel. Claim 9 has also been amended to set forth the claimed subject matter in a manner more consistent with the claim being directed to a method. New Claims 10-19 have also been added. No new matter has been introduced.

Early and favorable action with respect to this application is respectfully requested.

Respectfully submitted,

BURNS, DOANE, SWECKER & MATHIS, L.L.P.
